

Finding FSG in Web Soil Survey:

The following document provides direction to find the FSG report in Web Soil Survey. Once you have selected your desired Area of Interest, click on the “Soil Data Explorer” at the top of WSS, and then click on “Soil Reports” tab.

The screenshot shows the Web Soil Survey (WSS) interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs: "Area of Interest (AOI)", "Soil Map", "Soil Data Explorer", "Download Soils Data", and "Shopping Cart (Free)". A yellow arrow points to the "Soil Data Explorer" tab, with the label "Soil Data Explorer" tab. Below these tabs is a section titled "View Soil Information By Use:" with a dropdown menu set to "All Uses". Under this section are several sub-tabs: "Intro to Soils", "Suitabilities and Limitations for Use", "Soil Properties and Qualities", "Ecological Site Assessment", and "Soil Reports". A yellow arrow points to the "Soil Reports" tab, with the label "Soil Report" tab. The "Soil Reports" section is expanded, showing a list of reports. A yellow arrow points to the "Land Classifications" section, with the label "The FSG report is under 'Land Classifications'". Below "Land Classifications" is the "Forage Suitability Groups" section, which is highlighted in red. A yellow arrow points to this section, with the label "The report is listed as 'Forage Suitability Groups'". The "Forage Suitability Groups" section includes buttons for "View Description" and "View Soil Report". Below this is the "Options" section, which includes a checkbox for "Include Minor Soils" and buttons for "View Description" and "View Soil Report". At the bottom of the "Options" section is the text "Hydric Soil List - All Components". To the right of the report list is a "Soil Map" section with a map of the selected area of interest. The map shows a landscape with various features, including roads and water bodies. A legend is visible on the left side of the map.

“Soil Data Explorer” tab

“Soil Report” tab

The FSG report is under “Land Classifications”. The report is listed as “Forage Suitability Groups”.